Temporary Trade of Delivery Allowance

15 December 2023

- Customers who pump more ML's than their Delivery Allowance will be charged Usage Above Delivery Allowance Fee (Casual User)
- This fee will be charged at the end of each quarter.
- Customers can choose to trade Delivery Allowance on and off your account.

Trade Off Your Account •If you are a customer that has excess Delivery Allowance (meaning you pump less water than the quantity of Delivery Allowance on your account) then you can trade your allowance to another customer.

Trade Onto Your Account • If you have pumped more water than the quantity of Delivery Allowance currently on your account, then it may be time to consider a trade of Delivery Allowance.

Savings

- •The cost of Delivery Allowance is less than the Usage Above Delivery Allowance Fee for the purchaser.
- •The vendor receives funds to cover the costs associated to holding the Delivery Entitlements permanently.
